Council opposes three to two B&B permit denied

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bay St. Louis City Council laid a controversial bed and breakfast proposal to rest quickly Tuesday night. Not for long, however.
Gene Woodrick, who wants to open the establishment at 1360 North Beach Boulevard, said Wednesday he and his wife won't drop the matter. They plan to refile for city permission to operate it, or go to court, Woodrick said.
He added that he hadn't involved lawyers in the matter until this point, because "I thought fairness would win out rather than loudness."

With no debate or discussion Tuesday of the issues involved, council took a three-two position against the proposal by Woodrick and his wife to open their home at 1360 North Beach Boulevard to inn clients.
The issue has dominated two meetings of the Planning and Zoning Commission -- but left the commissioners deadlocked after hours of public debate. The controversy had intensified so much by this week that opponents of the proposal had posted anti-bed-and-breakfast placards near the site at issue.

Tuesday, the expected capacity crowd materialized again at City Hall Annex to watch City Council deal with the Woodricks' application. Councilman James Rutherford made a motion to allow the special exception needed for the Woodricks' proposed operation, and was seconded by councilman

Depot deal gets green light

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Federal officials have given Bay St. Louis the green light for buying the former CSX depot, ending months of delays and doubts over a major city project.
City officials Tuesday said the $86,000 sale will go through as quickly as a required appraisal of the property is completed. They agreed to hire appraisers for the work, and formalized a consulting arrangement with Community Associates to spearhead the project.
The city has a $580,000 grant from the Federal Department of Transportation to restore the 1928 structure. It already has spent some $136,000 to build a passenger platform and pavilion on the side to accommodate Amtrak service.
With other grants for related work, the total project cost comes to over $800,000.
Mayor Eddie Favre said while the city already has had the property appraised, federal officials require another one from an appraiser certified by the federal government.

Meanwhile, the city has a binding contract with CSX for purchase of the property, and has had consultants at work to resolve various hold-ups of the project.
At the urging of council members, Favre agreed that the city will begin compiling documentation to win a grant extension, in light of the series of delays the acquisition has faced. Many of those delays, Favre said, are due to federal requirements.
One of the biggest roadblocks the city has faced, however, concerned the nature of the title the city will get from CSX. About a foot and a half of the building's facade lies within 50 feet of the CSX tracks, and will remain CSX property. The rail company, however, will grant the city a perpetual easement to that portion of the building.

Federal officials finally signed off on that arrangement, Favre reported Tuesday, clearing the way for acquisition.
City officials hope restoration of the former depot will spark extensive renewal projects in a previously robust section of the city.
In other action Tuesday, council agreed to help local library officials resolve a major problem with a lack of parking at the new library under construction.
Officials eliminated plans for a paved strip of parking and sidewalks on the Ulman Street side of the facility, in a move to cut costs. The action left the library with only the seven paved parking spaces that have been in use on the Highway 90 side of the facility.
Favre said city officials

Supervisors tell Plauche' $60,000 a one-time thing

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
Members of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors became a little agitated Monday when they were reminded that the Hancock County Library System requested the same amount for their budget this year that they received last year.

Last year, the system received two mills plus $60,000. The library later requested another $240,000 to complete the renovation of the library headquarters that the supervisors had to find the money to fund. Board members told director Prima Plauche' and library board chairman Evelyn Johnson that they would get the two mills, but they would not get the $60,000.

"The $60,000 was a one-time thing. That was not to go on from year to year. We all understood that and I am sorry if you didn't, but you all told us that it

Blue Meadow improvement nearing completion date

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Just days before a hoped-for finish of a Blue Meadow Road improvement project, Bay St. Louis officials want a study of extending the improvements.

expedite the project over the past several months, clearing hurdles of easements and rights-of-way. City workers, meanwhile, saw delays caused by the rainy summer.

City Public Works director Ronnie Vanney says Blue Meadow's new lanes between Highway 90 and Bay High School will be open for traffic by Aug. 12. A final overlay of asphalt will be put in place soon after that, Vanney said.

With promises that the Blue Meadow drainage and widening work is near an end, councilmen Tuesday agreed to ask consultants to look at possibly widening the roadway further -- to Casino Magic Drive. There are some large Magnolia trees on one side of the road that would complicate that project, however.

The project includes a wideened roadway to provide new turning lanes at the intersection, which carries heavy traffic generated by Casino Magic, Bay High, and area businesses. Other improvements are being planned for the Main Street side of the same intersection. City Council has struggled to

Council president Charles Scianna said state funds are still available to cover the costs of further improvements to Blue Meadow, and the city shouldn't let the funding opportunity pass without considering extending the project.

The city has footed the bill for the nearly-completed improvements.
Councilman Tad Black said the study must consider ways to leave the Magnolias in place. "Either go around them, or you don't do anything else," said Black.
Mayor Eddie Favre said he'll have consulting engineers take a look at the possibilities, but he warned that widening Blue Meadow all the way to Casino Magic Drive isn't going to solve the access problem for the casino.
Casino Magic wants to connect Casino Magic Drive with Highway 90 via a new roadway, but hasn't been able to acquire all the property it needs for the new route.

Waveland aldermen vote for one more large trash pickup

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
What can we do about the trash? That was the main topic of conversation at the Waveland Aldermen meeting Tuesday night. The board voted to have one more large trash pickup and then start fining people for putting out large objects that cannot be picked up by normal means.

Waveland resident Don Skermatta addressed the board concerning problems that he and other residents have had concerning vandalism and not knowing the exact time that their garbage will be collected. "We have kids that will dump our garbage out and scatter it along the streets. Something has to be done. We need a definite time for our garbage collection so that we don't have to put the trash out hours beforehand and hopefully eliminate the vandalism problem and the problem of animals getting into

Judge Phillips was a man who cared

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
He will always be remembered as a man who cared and who believed that if "you have no children and you have no friends, you have nothing to live for."
"He had many friends, people that I didn't even know. He had touched their lives in some small way and made an impact. He had a way about him that if you started out his enemy you would end up being his friend," Sandra Phillips said of her husband, Walter James Phillips, who had served since 1991 as a municipal court judge in Waveland.

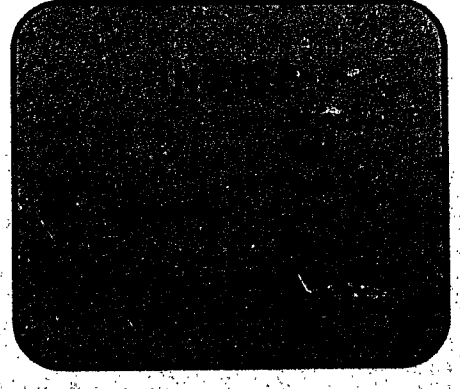

Phillips, 71, of Bay St. Louis, died Sunday from a cerebral hemorrhage. Sandra said that her husband had been diagnosed Friday with an acute form of leukemia.
"We knew that he would not survive this, but we did not know that he would die within 24 hours," Sandra Phillips said.
Phillips had served 20 years in non-consecutive terms in the Mississippi State Legislature. He served from 1952-1960, 1964-1972 and 1984-1990.
Phillips was a partner in the Gex, Gex and Phillips law offices in Bay St. Louis and was retired from the Mississippi House of Representatives. He was a graduate of the University of Mississippi Law School and a member of the Ole Miss Alumni Association.
He was also a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic

Employment office now open five days a week

BY EILEIS C. CUEVAS

The Mississippi Employment Service's Hancock County office will open Monday through Friday beginning August 8, Ann Ladner, office manager said Wednesday.

Ladner said the hours will be Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, 8 to 5 p.m. and Thursdays and Fridays 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The additional opening on Mondays and Fridays in Hancock County is due to the recent increase at the employment office, Ladner said.

Businesses and industries seeking employees may visit the Hancock County office at 3060 Longfellow Drive, or call 467-9572.

Representatives from the Gulf Coast Claims Center's hours will continue on Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to noon, Ladner said.

was only for that year," District Two supervisor Alton "Dolph" Kellar said.

The other supervisors agreed that they were all under the impression and had been told by Plache and Johnson that the extra $60,000 was for rent of the additional building that they would have to move into while the library was being renovated, moving expenses and extra insurance.

Plache said what they want is a guarantee that they would get the $320,000 that they received last year because they had used the extra $60,000 for pay raises and to increase hours for workers who had received a cut in their work days.

"Mike Necaise's office told us that a mill would be worth $170-175,000. If we lose money then we are going to have to cut needed programs," Plache said.

"Mike Necaise can't tell you how much a mill is going to be worth. I can't, and Eddie Murtagh can't tell you either what we will get until the definite figures come in," Kellar said.

Johnson said that she and Plache would have to get together to determine what programs would have to be cut if the needed monies did not come in on the millage and asked that they discuss this with the board during a workshop.

The Pearl River Basin Development District awarded the county a $4,000 grant for improvements for the walking track at Hancock Medical Center. Mike Davis, a representative of the PRBDD, also showed the supervisors plans for the development of McCleod Park.

Plans were shown for the establishment of the covered arena, with optional baseball fields, nature trails, parking areas and also an open arena.

The supervisors were told that before any work could begin on any phase of the project that an archeological investigation would have to be done to determine the historical significance of the area in reference to Indians and to any past wars.

The supervisors opened bids and awarded the purchase of 70,000 tax receipts and 40,000 mailer forms to Moore Business Forms of Mobile, Ala. in the amount of $7,458.20.

The board approved the county payroll for July 16-31 and the payroll for planning commissioners, park commissioners and election commissioners.

They also approved the July claims docket and recessed until Aug. 15.

"He helped so many people and he really cared. People have said that it was so sudden, you didn't have time to say goodbye, but we did. He was a wonderful man and I was lucky to have had him in my life for the past 17 years," Sandra Phillips said.

Phillips was the father of five sons, two daughters and two step-daughters. He also had 15 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services were held for him at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home on Tuesday. He was laid to rest in the Gulf Coast Memorial Cemetery.

the garbage," Skermatta said. The board voted to put an announcement into next month's billing so that residents will be made aware of exactly when the large trash pickup will be.

Mayor Stella Frilot was absent and alderman Barbara Rappold served as mayor pro-tem.

The board also approved the inter-local agreement between Waveland, Bay St. Louis and the county for the new S.W.A.T. team, but did not offer any funding for the new unit.

The board was told that funding was optional, so the board elected not to fund the new special operations unit.

In other matters, the Waveland Aldermen:

- Approved the minutes of their last meeting.
- Approved the bills.
- Approved the recommendations of the planning and zoning commission.

— Tabled a request by Henry Martinez to abandon a street.

— Tabled a request by Howard Lowe, owner of the Key Largo Lounge on Coleman Avenue, to hold a "Battle of the Bands" in front of the lounge, beginning at 8 p.m. on Aug. 19 and ending at 10 p.m. on Aug. 21.

— Approved sending a clean-up letter to Anna G. Bowen, 816 Waveland Ave.

would explore optional parking facilities on the Ulman Street side of the building.

In another matter, Favre was authorized to negotiate with Jubilee Casino for extending city bus service to the Bayou Caddy facility.

City officials hope the casino will share in operating costs for the line, and generate more useage at the same time.

In response to citizens' complaints about the city's equipment yard, Council agreed to meet with residents living near the Valena C. Jones complex Aug. 16.

Juanita Mitchell said she represents a group of area residents who are plagued by noise and dust from the yard, and they'd like to see it relocated.

Councilman Charles Scianna said the city has a large investment in the yard, making it doubtful the city would abandon it. He said the city would work to resolve the problems that neighbors have faced, however.

Favre said the city is studying what to do with the entire VCJ complex, including the public works equipment, the police and fire stations, and the area senior citizens' offices. Officials think it may be too costly to upgrade the existing facilities to a satisfactory level, and are considering proposing new facilities elsewhere.

Councilmen, meanwhile, agreed to meet with neighbors on the issue at 5 p.m., Aug. 16, at the equipment storage site.

B&B

Thomas Farve. They were voted down by councilmen Charles Scianna, James Thriffliey and Tad Black.

Thriffliey was the only councilman to comment during the meeting on the proposal, saying he has "no problem" with the owners and none with bed and breakfast operations generally. Thriffliey said he couldn't accept the bed and breakfast in the area at issue, however.

Black said after the meeting he had campaigned in large measure on promises to preserve the sanctity of residential zoning, and had no intention voting to allow a commercial venture in one.

That was the heart of opponents' arguments all along: 1360 North Beach Boulevard is zoned R-1, for single family residential uses. Opponents said allowing a commercial venture in an R-1 area would devastate the city's zoning ordinance. Others argued the operation would draw unwanted traffic, noise and strangers into their neighborhood.

Proponents, including the Hancock Tourism and Gaming

Association, contended the operation would have no impact on the neighborhood and would enhance the stock of accommodations the city has to offer tourists.

After the proposal was killed by council's vote, Woodrick asked Scianna, president of council, to read a letter from Woodrick concerning the matter.

But Scianna stopped reading it as soon as the first sentence branded the majority of councilmen "puppets." An angered Scianna told Woodrick to take his letter back. He did so, and left the meeting.

Woodrick released a copy of the text Wednesday, however.

"I now realize what I had often been told, that a majority of the council members are puppets in the hands of a loud few with no regard to the silent and fire-minded majority," the letter states.

"The few are not only loud, but rude, inconsiderate and concerned only about themselves. Many of them are not citizens who could render a vote for you."

Woodrick said he has operated his insurance company offices in Bay St. Louis since 1986, and had looked forward to living here. The Woodricks moved into their new home last weekend.

"I will devote my future years trying to see that progressive minds occupy the seats now occupied by the non-progressive puppets," he said in his letter. "You have not seen or heard the last of me."

The annual Gulf Coast Sports and Fishing Rodeo.

The event is scheduled for Saturday, August 13 and is open to boys and girls ages 13 and under.

It is always a fun time for the youngsters and for many parents who take the time to take their children fishing.

Registration is free, and trophies will be awarded in each division. Pre-registration forms can be obtained at Sam Perniciaro's Garage, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis, or on the day of the rodeo.

Rodeo headquarters will be the American Legion Memorial Pier, Beach Boulevard at Washington Street from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Registration will close at 2 p.m. on rodeo day.

Each registrant will receive a free hot dog and coke. The saltwater division will include speckled trout, redbait, white trout, flounder croaker, ground mullet and largest fish.

No catfish or stingrays will be accepted. This is as a safety precaution for the youngsters.

Freshwater fishermen will be vying for the top place in green trout (bass) and perch divisions.

Fish must be caught on the day of the rodeo by the participants in any water in the area from piers, shoreline, boats or wading.

This coming week will be a good time for youngsters to get their tackle out and check to see if it is working properly and plan their fishing trip next weekend.

I am hoping this will be a record year for participants in the kids fishing rodeo.

I had a feeling the addition of portable classrooms for educational purposes in the two local school systems was a thing of the past.

It appears now that the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Municipal School District is once again searching for portable classrooms because of student increases.

The influx of residents with the creation of new jobs is causing the need for extra space in the school district.

It does take time to plan for school buildings, and really no one knew just how many more students gaming would bring to our communities.

The construction of a school also takes a lot longer than a casino because of funding, plans, federal and state specifications, bidding, etc.

Over the years I have heard not-so-good stories about portable classrooms, such as floors caving in, poor heating and cooling, etc.

There are times when portable classrooms are the only answer, and I hope the ones that have to be added to the Bay-Waveland system will only be for a brief period.

A coming event in Diamondhead will be the Diamondhead Players' presentation of Nun For The Money set for August 11 and 12.

Ben Doss will direct the two-act comedy written by Rene J. Duffour.

I understand this is an outstanding play by a very skilled cast.

The play is to be at the Diamondhead Country Club with dinner time at 7 p.m. and show starting at 8 p.m.

Tickets must be purchased in advance at $15 per person. For reservations and tickets, call 255-4269. Deadline for ticket purchases is Monday.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Resident knows there are still nice young people

Dear Editor,
This is a first for me — a letter to the editor.

How else can I offer appreciation to the two very nice young men, who found my handbag in a grocery cart at Delchamps on Tuesday, July 26, and returned it intact to the manager's office?

As I drove to the store, hoping that my handbag might still be in the grocery cart, where I had inadvertently left it, I thought of all the things to be replaced — my driver's license, my Visa card, my Discover card, insurance cards, etc.

In this day of escalating crime rates, it is very gratifying to know that honesty is still very much alive in our young people. Young men, you are great!

SJA building being demolished was a mistake, reader says

Dear Editor,

This reader expresses her appreciation for the wonderful article with accompanying photos of Elaine Colson and the Gold J's of the old St. Joseph Academy.

I have sent copies to my three SJA daughters elsewhere, Tina, Anita and Germaine.

Besides physical education, Elaine and the sisters also directed many other activities at SJA, such as plays, musical or otherwise, balls for carnival or for graduation, May festivals, etc.

I remember "The King and I," where Dot Russell also assisted in the Siamese ballet numbers. That was in 1960.

The preceding year, in 1959, SJA produced "Cinderella." In opera there are two versions of Cinderella by two different composers, but ours was unique, strictly an SJA production.

How do I remember those dates when my home and its contents went with Hurricane Camille? I still have some silver medals engraved with the names, year and SJA of the productions, with my initials on the reverse.

Along with Elaine and Dot, some parents, sisters and students SJAs, in fact, almost the entire community assisted in such productions.

Now I would like to get something off my chest: No old building, whether educational or otherwise, should ever be destroyed.

Besides its historical value, the SJA building represented the Alma Mater of so many fine young ladies, one of whom was even honored with the Regina Matrum Award by the archdiocese, the highest award to a woman.

No, the hurricane did not destroy the beautiful Italianate SJA building; it was human factor, which should not have been condoned by the church for the sake of the spiritual well-being of all the SJA alumnae, for the sake of their parents, who had sacrificed so much for their Catholic upbringing, and certainly in gratitude to the good Sisters of St. Joseph, who originally had started teaching in Bay St. Louis in wooden structures not unlike those built later to replace their brick-iron-cement-mahogany (the stairs leading to the central offices upstairs) building.

Sincerely,
Bertha Giani

Drugs, loitering, noise causes loss of sleep for Bay resident

Dear Editor,

I live in the Third Ward on Washington Street, across from the Martin Luther King Park, and it's sad but so true to say that the drugs sold and used are so plentiful in this neighborhood.

There have been times when the odor from marijuana was so strong that I had to put down my windows and close my doors so my niece and I wouldn't inhale the fumes.

Every night there's a lot of loitering, abusive language and disrespect going on, and that makes it hard to sleep.

The police do respond every time they are called out, but as soon as they leave the noise gets started up again.

There are signs posted all around, but the crowd just ignores them.

Maybe if the police would enforce these signs and patrol the neighborhood more, it might help eliminate some of the problems.

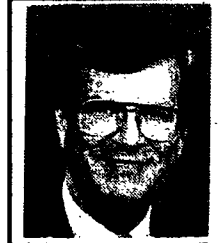

Sincerely,
Mary Williams Weaver

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator
Trent Lott

Time to fish or cut bait

It is August in Washington and, as we say in Mississippi, time to "fish or cut bait" on legislation affecting Americans.

For over a year, Congress has been actively debating the Clinton health care proposal which would turn over our nation's health care system to the federal government to run.

For the last six years, however, many of us in the Congress have been seeking ways to solve America's real health care problems like portability of coverage, coverage penalties due to pre-existing conditions, and access to health care by rural Americans.

About a week ago, the Congressional leadership told the President there were not enough votes to pass his plan in either body and declared dead his health care plan.

Since that time, Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell has been working in secret negotiations to resurrect legislation similar to the President's. His goal is to line up enough votes for passage by softening the President's language.

For instance, in place of the requirement that employers pay 80 percent of the cost of their employees' health insurance, Mitchell proposes a conditional mandate that would be triggered if voluntary measures fail to achieve 95 percent coverage of all Americans.

His as-yet-unfinished version of health care reform — expected to be a combination of the original Clinton bill, the Kennedy Education and Labor committee bill, and a bill reported out by New York Senator Pat Moynihan's Finance Committee — could come before the full Senate as early as next week. We have no idea how much that bill will cost or who will have to pay it.

At the same time, we already have a very good bill before the Senate, proposed by Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole, which addresses the questions of insurance reform, market reform, tort reform, rural health care access and medicaid accounts, all areas where a majority of Senators share concerns and a basic agreement on the need for action.

We could pass that bill now instead of holding such common sense proposals hostage to a bill that restructures our entire health care system.

At the very minimum we should be afforded at least a few days to study the final bill on which we will be voting. We should argue about and extensively discuss health care reform because it will affect everyone's lives — either through their access to health care or through the taxes that are being proposed to pay for it. We need to be careful and do it right. If we cannot do it right, we should not do it.

The Congress also is in the final phase of debating the crime bill. The Senate passed its version of the bill late last year, but the legislation has been held up because of the House of Representatives' insistence on gun control and on racial quotas for imposing the death penalty.

This is important legislation, and there clearly are areas where we need to improve the federal role in fighting crime. We do need stronger penalties. We do need truth in sentencing, and we do need the three-strikes-and-you're-out law.

We also need more money for federal prisons and more help for the local law enforcement folks who are fighting crime where most of it occurs — at the

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Appointed officials would give state better direction

Mississippians have been led to believe that granting the Governor the power to appoint some state officials who are now elected would remove the electorate's right to vote.

But in truth, appointments would further the democratic process. Finally, a vote for Governor would count for something. It would count for the agenda that has been set forth during the campaign.

The overriding reason is simple — the consolidation of policy at the Capitol.

As is now, each state official — from the Governor to all three of the state's Highway Commissioners — has a separate agenda for his office. It leaves Mississippi with no direction or common plan of action.

Not only does the current system leave the Governor grasping at straws to set forth an organized plan of action for the state, but it also renders other office holders less effective.

Little is accomplished at the state level because officials have no team approach to the state's problems. With so many agendas, there is little support for any one policy.

Mississippians deserve better.

The Governor should be given the power to appoint more state officials — pending Senate approval of his appointments — in order to give Mississippi's leaders the ability to pursue a clear path for future success.

In other words, the Governor should be given the power to do his job.

Local firefighters battle Montana blaze

The Mississippi Forestry Commission has dispatched 19 special-trained firefighters to western Montana to assist in ongoing fire control efforts.

The crew arrived in Missoula, Montana, and was immediately assigned to the Grant Creek wildfire burning near Missoula in the Rocky Mountain region of western Montana. The Mississippi firefighters will assist other fire crews in containing the wildfire.

Specific details about the Grant Creek fire are unknown at this time.

The fire crew is led by crew boss John Walker of Neshoba County. The fire crew consists of three squads led by Mark Jamieson of Hancock County, Danny Bryant of Hinds County and Paul Reynolds of Winston County.

The remaining crew members are John Wallace, Covington County; Tony Clark, Lamar; Vince Smith, Jones; Albert Danfals, Hancock; Billy Dorsey, Sharkey; Randy Chapin, Copiah; Barry Slay, Oktibeha; Terry Smith, Harrison; James Baggett, Monroe; Ernest Wally, Wayne; Jerry Thompson, Lee; George Reynolds, Clark; Jim Stanford, Yazoo; Larry Reed, Washington and Wade McCulloch, Choctaw County.

The Forestry Commission crew is one of seven fire crews from Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, which have been sent to help firefighters battle several blazes in the Missoula area.

In all, 140 firefighters representing state and federal natural resource agencies and the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians flew out of Jackson.

The crews are expected to return in two to three weeks.

White flowering dogwood trees given away

Ten free white flowering dogwood trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during August 1994.

The free trees are part of the non-profit foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"The white flowering dogwoods will add year-round beauty to your home and neighborhood," John Rosenow, the foundation's president, said.

"Dogwoods have showy spring flowers, scarlet autumn foliage, and red berries which attract songbirds all winter."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Oct. 15 and

Dec. 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six- to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the foundation's colorful bimonthly publication, Arbor Day, which includes regular features about tree planting and care.

To become a member of the foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Dogwoods, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska, City, NE 68410, by Aug. 31.

Senate committee approves funding for Camp Shelby

The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved funding for a number of improvements at Camp Shelby, Senator Thad Cochran announced.

The Defense Appropriations bill included $900,000 for armor targetry upgrades and $200,000 for a new security system.

"The committee also approved language urging the expansion of Camp Shelby as a matter of national security importance," Cochran said.

The bill's provisions include $2.66 billion for three new Aegis DDG 51 Aegis destroyers, two of which will be built at Ingalls Shipyard in Pascagoula.

Other programs receiving approval include $13.7 million for the Mississippi Army National Guard's Avenger Missile System; more than $154 million for two Hughes defense programs at Forest, Miss.; and $6.8 million for the Gulf States Counter-Drug Initiative, which includes funding for the Regional Counterdrug Academy in Meridian.

"The battle against drug smuggling has to involve our military resources if we are to win," Cochran added.

The bill now goes to the Senate floor for consideration.

What we do not need is a gun control bill or a law that requires racial quotas in determining the allowability of the death penalty, or one that amounts to a social spending program as reflected in the millions of dollars in current proposals for midnight basketball leagues.

I am hopeful we will get a good crime bill, but that prospect is still in doubt.

One seeming casualty of time in this session of the Senate appears to be welfare reform. The President has introduced a proposal to spend more money but place fewer restrictions on those on welfare rolls. Congress must cap the growth of welfare spending if we are to see real welfare reform.

DIAMONDHEAD LIONS

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Bourgeois (Joel) chairmen of the Diabetes Awareness Committee for the Diamondhead Lions Club accepted an invitation to tour the Addy McBride Rehabilitation Center for the Blind and Visually Impaired in Jackson July 16.

They said the tour was an eye-opener. They saw visually impaired clients, as well as blind clients, threading needles, using kitchen and laundry facilities, working on arts and crafts, using computer and visual aids, exercising, etc.

The purpose of this center is to assist these clients in becoming independent citizens. The center is one of the recipients of funds raised by Lions Clubs through can shakes at intersections, raffles and other fund raisers.

We are grateful to Conrad and Joel for bringing back good news about what our Lions Clubs are doing for these unfortunate folks at this center and ones like it all over the U.S.

The Diamondhead Lions are very active and meet twice monthly on the first and third Tuesday of every month, and new members are always welcome. Please call Howard Peters at 255-3753 for more information.

Social Security: Can we rely on it?

By Jan Lukens, MBA, CFP
Consumer Money Management Specialist

It's a question I hear frequently and one on which even the experts disagree. Today many young people are asking questions about their financial security at retirement. The income base which retirees have relied upon since 1937 may not be around in 2029.

The Social Security trustees recently announced their annual assessment of the Social Security system. They now predict that the system will go broke in the year 2029. Some say the predictions are just hype, doom-sayer rhetoric. Others point to serious funding flaws of this huge social insurance and public assistance program.

Two experts gave their opinion on the future of Social Security at a recent Certified Financial Planners meeting. Below are highlights of CFP Today's report on their widely divergent views.

Krewe of Nereids hosts fish fry and dance

Special to the Echo
Looking for a delectable way to satisfy your appetite for seafood? Try the Nereids Fish Fry on Saturday, Aug. 13.

The road to good eating leads right to the Hancock Civic Center on Longfellow Road in Bay St. Louis.

The $6 dinner, which will be served from 4-8 p.m., includes the crispest, flakiest and moistest fried fish, a superb potato salad, a green bean casserole, bursting with flavor, and iced tea.

A variety of luscious desserts, prepared by krewe members, may be purchased separately.

And it's not only a food fest. It's a celebration of fun and entertainment, Nereids-style. It's a testimony to the fact that Nereids is not just a once-a-year Mardi Gras blowout. The family fish fry includes everything from song and dance, provided by Nereids members to a chance to win $1,000 — plus a professional musical group, Laurin Munsch and Stepping Out.

Live entertainment begins at 8 p.m. with Nereids Krewe members. From 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., for a $10 donation per person, guests can dance to the rhythm and blues sounds of "Stepping Out." A cash bar will be provided during the dance. The drawing for the $1,000 raffle culminates the evening.

Tickets for the fish fry, dance, and raffle will be available at the door or from a Nereids member in advance. Take-out orders are available for the dinner.

The public is invited. This is a family event. Proceeds enable the Krewe of Nereids to sponsor its annual Mardi Gras ball and carnival parade for the community.

For information, call Patsy Dubuisson at 467-0244.

Local Agreement
Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday approved a local agreement between Waveland, Bay St. Louis and Hancock County.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said the agreement was very similar to the one that the county entered into when the narcotics task force was established.

"These are officers trained in specialized areas and have received free training from the New Orleans S.W.A.T. team and other agencies," Peterson said.

The S.W.A.T. team will be receiving $1,500 from the Hancock County Sheriff's Department training budget. They have also received $1,500 from the Bay St. Louis City Council and $5,000 from Casino Magic. Waveland Aldermen approved the inter-local agreement Tuesday night, but did not appropriate any funding for the Special Operations Division. Peterson also noted that the county also entered into a similar agreement with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday.

Peterson was asked what the county was doing about housing juvenile offenders if adult women are being held in the juvenile facility.

Peterson told the board that the age for a juvenile to be tried as an adult in felony cases has been lowered to 17 and therefore, some juveniles are being housed with the regular adult inmates, but are separated as much as possible.

There are some that we are having to send to Jackson County. They are charging us $75 per day to house them there, but we have no choice. The state is not taking their prisoners off of our hands fast enough. The only alternative that I see is release the overcrowding situation was not going to be solved until more inmates could be placed that way.

The county receives federal funds for the federal prisoners housed at the Hancock County Justice Facility. The county also receives funds for state prisoners, but not much.

"We only receive $10 per day per inmate," Peterson said. "Parchman is paid $30 a day to do the same things for them that we have to do."

"The amount that they are paying us, compared to the amount that they are paying Parchman, is not right. We should be paid the same amount," Chancery Clerk Mike Necaie said.

Board attorney Gerald Gex said that there is a resolution that all counties are asked to send to the state legislature to deal with the problem. The department has located in the northern part of the county return for 15 pages of charges.

Two of the 15 pages will be long distance pages, which the deputies can use when they have to go out of town or state.

The board also approved the purchase of four new patrol cars for the sheriff's department.

The bids were opened and the purchase was awarded to East Ford of Jackson that bid $13,391 each for the 1994 Crown Victoria police package vehicles.

Supporting cancer society

One of the many businesses assisting with donations for the Cancer Society's dinner dance on Saturday at Diamondhead Country Club is the Blue Rose in Pass Christian. Owner Phil Lagrange donated "tea for ten." Chef at the Blue Rose is Louis Maxwell Levy, who has ten years of experience. He was formerly with Max's Grille and Cafe Max in Boca Raton, Fla. The Blue Rose features dishes made with local ingredients produced in a new creative approach using old Louisiana recipes. Other supporters are Valentino's, Lynda's Cookery, Harbour Oaks Inn, merchants from Court St. in Bay St. Louis and Russell's Chevron in Pass Christian. President of the society, Rose Almerico, shown with chef Levy, and her committee are very appreciative of the support from the businesses and hope that Saturday's fundraiser is the most successful yet. The bird cage, courtesy of Court St. Station, will be featured in the auction. For reservations or more information, call 255-7935.

COOKING UP A STORM
By Katy McGuire Caire

Ratatouille

If you're looking for a tasty way to use up all those fresh vegetables from the garden — or, perhaps the farmer's market or supermarket if you're as black-thumbed a gardener as I, you might cook up a Ratatouille (rah-ta-tooy) that delicious vegetable medley from France's Provence region.

I usually cook a large batch when I get going on this, as it keeps quite well in the refrigerator for several days. It's tasty, whether served hot or cold, and good even reheated.

It serves as a delicious fresh sauce for pasta; and it makes a good appetizer, served at room temperature, on toast rounds or squares, or as a first course at table.

There are many variations of this dish, but most combine eggplant, tomatoes, onion and garlic and squash. Some call it a "French vegetable stew," others regard it as more of a "cooked salad" of sorts. Here's:

Saute the onion and garlic in the olive oil. Add the remaining vegetables, mixing well together. Cook over low heat, stirring around so that all the vegetables are sauteed.

Add seasonings, cover and simmer for 30 to 40 minutes, checking on the pan once in a while and stirring so that the mixture doesn't scorch.

When the vegetables are tender, remove the cover, and if needed, cook for a little longer — but don't overcook — until the whole mixture is thick and most of the pan juices have evaporated. And, of course, remember to remove the bay leaf before serving. (6 servings)

...and what should you do? ...examined by your veterinarian. The convulsion is not the underlying problem, which is why any pet that has had a convulsion should have veterinary attention. Any number of things can bring on convulsions or fits. Some of the causes include disease, excessive heat, accidents, poisons, nervous ailments, inadequate diet, overexcitement, parasites, worms and even high fever.

A convulsion is characterized by foaming at the mouth, clamping of the jaws, thrashing of the feet, stiffening of the body so that it shakes or quivers and even unconsciousness. When a pet has a convulsion, remove any potentially dangerous objects from the animal's path, but otherwise leave it

When the convulsion subsides, try to keep the cat warm. It will hold still, and you are sure it will not bite. Also, do not feed your cat directly after it has had a convulsion. A fit also can be the result of nervousness, and it can be extremely difficult to pinpoint the cause. In general, a fit points to something more serious that can be diagnosed and treated. Often an owner may not be aware of the basic problem until the convulsion occurs.

Local fashion talents recognized

Fashion Group International, Alpha Region encompasses Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi. The Alpha Awards ceremony and presentation on Saturday, July 23, was again held in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton New Orleans Hotel.

The Fashion Group recognizes excellence of design in the fashion industry. This year when the ballots were read Mississippi fared well with multiple winnings by both Carter Church, couture designer of Bay St. Louis, and Hattiesburg jewelry designer Susan Caruth Hulett.

Bay St. Louis businessman, designer and 1993 Life Achievement Award recipient, Church, CC Designs, was spotlighted in the fashion show presentation with his red raw silk evening couture, created by request of Dr. Donald Bell. Deborah, wife of Dr. Bell, was informed of the gift designed for her as the gown was presented on the runway.

In 1993 and again in 1994 Fashion Group International presented their Alpha Award for Custom Design Jewelry to Hulett. She was also awarded the New Talent Award for her second year in the national jewelry design industry.

Created with intricate folds of metal, each piece radiates emotion, thought and expert execution of her designs that she creates personally in her Hattiesburg studio. Hulett's jewelry is available exclusively in Bay St. Louis at Ycart Gallery, 112 N. Second Street.

CC Designs' Church was presented with the Alpha and second place for Custom Design Carnival King and Queen, second place Alpha for Custom Design Couture Evening Wear and Swept first, second and third place Alpha Awards in both Custom Design Carnival

Kershaw returns to Jubilee

Due to popular demand, Doug "The Ragin' Cajun" Kershaw will return with his electrifying fiddle and showmanship to Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's Cabaret Showroom Aug. 4-9.

The charismatic fiddler, who shook the roof off the 300-seat Las Vegas-style showroom during his two previous appearances, will perform twice nightly at 8 p.m. and 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. on Thursday and Sunday.

Kershaw, a native of Teal Ridge, La., said the Cabaret Showroom provided the perfect atmosphere for crowd participation. "The New Orleans theme associated with Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino blends in naturally with my performance, and the fact that the folks from Mississippi and Louisiana are familiar with my style of music, motivates me as an artist," said Kershaw.

Upcoming acts include Percy Sledge (Aug. 18-21), Paul Revere & The Raiders (Aug. 25-28), Lloyd Price (Sept. 22-25) and the 5th Dimension (Sept. 29-Oct. 2).

For information and reservations call 1-800-552-0707.

Library to close for annual inventory

All three branches of the Hancock County Library System will be closed Tuesday, Aug. 9 through Saturday, Aug. 13 for its annual inventory, according to Prima Plaque, library system director.

"This is the time when we check our shelves to assure all the books are in order, and this year we will be preparing for the move into the new building in early 1995," said Plaque.

Patrons wishing to return books during this time are urged to use the bookdrop at any of the three branches.

The three branches will reopen Monday, Aug. 15 at 9:30 a.m. For information call 467-5282.

Youth football registration set

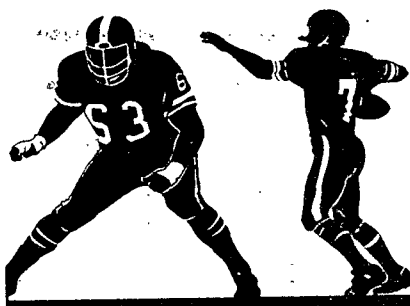

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The Bay St. Louis Youth Football League has announced the registration dates for the upcoming season.

The registration for 6-8 year olds, 9-10 year olds, and 11-12 year olds will take place on Saturday, August 6 at Walmart between the hours of 10am and 2pm. The registration fee is $30 and will include uniforms and insurance.

Dwayne Alleman, president of the youth league, commented, "We are anticipating about 180-200 children signing up this year."

He continued, "The success of the program depends on volunteers. We still need coaches, concession workers, equipment managers, etc."

Alleman concluded, "We need to keep the children involved in healthy activities."

This prevents them from getting in trouble and keeps them off the streets."

For more information please call Cheryl at 467-4800.

Cheerleading registration will also take place on Saturday, August 10 at Walmart. The times for registration are 10am to 2pm.

For more information on cheerleading please call Becky at 466-6377.

The society's president, Charles Gray, has set a meeting for anyone interested in volunteering to assist with the many functions associated with the Rendezvous for Tuesday, Aug. 9 at 2 p.m. at the Lohrman House, One Street, Bay St. Louis.

Included in the festivities are
